The case of the Carlin strikers will come before the present U. S. Grand Jury.

The Vigilant must have had her bottom scraped with a spanker by the way she is beaten.

J. Sloat Fasset announces himself a candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor of New York.

A highwayman held up a train in Texas Sunday and killed a passenger and robbed his body. The robber escaped.

The Republicans of this county say they will have to nominate the same county ticket that was defeated last election.

The "Coxeyites" arrested at Hyattsville, Md., as vagrants, have been put to work making good roads in that vicinity.

The Republicans only hope for success through a split in the silver party. They get down on their knees and pray for it every night.

Signors Bistolfi and Montanelli desire through the columns of the APPEAL to thank Warden Bell for courtesies extended to them at the State Prison yesterday.

In Corea a woman is a poor beast of burden, to whom is given not even a name. She is designated as the "first daughter of X" or the second or third, or the "first wife of Y."

Up to this time the price of sugar has advanced about 1 cent a pound as the effect of the senate tariff bill. There will probably be a slight additional advance when the bill is signed.

The Carnegie Steel Company and the other steel companies that are accused of plugging the plates of war vessels, should post their signs Carnegie Steel Works, Philadelphia Steel Works, etc.

E. L. Harper, the Cincinnati bank wrecker, who has for some time enjoyed a delightful measure of oblivion, is defendant in a suit just filed in Cincinnati for judgement to the tune of $600,000.

W. K. Spaulding the manager of the box factory at Truckee has written to Fish Commissioner Mills agreeing to cease dumping saw-dust in the Truckee river from date. This will settle a long vexed question.

Two sisters charged with insanity were granted a jury trial yesterday in Oakland and acquitted. Their brother was trying to railroad them into the asylum to secure their property, and found three scoundrelly doctors who swore that the girls were insane.

The driest place in the world is that part of Egypt between the two lower falls of the Nile. Rain has never been known to fall there, and the inhabitants do not believe travelers when told that water can fall from the sky.

The New York Sun asks this most pertinent question. What did Senator Gorman mean when he referred in open session of the Senate to his journey through fifth and mire for Cleveland's sake in 1884? Did he mean that there had been two fraudulent Presidents to the United States?

The worst electric storm ever experienced west and east of Chicago was reported from that city Sunday night, completely demoralizing the telegraph wires. The storm was also very severe east of Buffalo and Pittsburgh. Very beautiful displays of aurora borealis were observed at several places.

The charges against Rev. Hirst of San Francisco have been pronounced absolutely false by the investigating committee and the work of some consciousness black mailer.

No one who knows Dr. Hirst ever believed the charges and the man who instigated them deserves a coat of tar and feathers.

It is said that some camels have been imported to this State to carry burdens over the desert. They will probably be used by Republican candidates when crossing the sink of the Humboldt. They will certainly need some long distance animal who can go without food or water when canvassing that locality.

GHOSTS UNDER THE WAGON.

Remarkable Experience of Furi Rafetto.

A few days ago Furi Rafetto the rancher had occasion to sell some garden truck in Washoe county and started for the scene of the sale at 2 30 in the morning.

He had not driven far before he thought he heard the murmur of voices under the wagon. When he first heard the strange whisperings he thought he was dreaming but they continued until he got off his wagon and took a look between the wheels but saw nothing. The voices had also ceased but as soon as the wagon started they were resumed and Furi began to scratch the northeast corner of his head in wonderment.

Then he got nervous and began to think that ghosts were abroad in Washoe county, for after he got over the Lakeview line the noises increased and it seemed as if several devils were fighting and squabbling under the wagon bed. By this time the horses got also alarmed and started on the run. The noises increased and by this time Furi believing that a lot of evil spirits had located their headquarters in his vegetable wagon, made the sign of the cross three times and then began whipping his horses to reach the place where he was to sell his vegetables and get help. He finally reached it, his horses all in a lather and when he hopped off the seat this time it was daylight.

He had hardly struck the ground when he saw a lot of his hens alighting. The mystery was solved. The hens had been in the habit during the hot nights of roosting on the reach of his wagon and they had stuck to the wagon for ten miles. There were ten all told and when they light on the ground and looked around their astonishment can be imagined. Instead of the old familiar Rafetto ranch there was a strange place and unfamiliar land scape.

They started off in ten different directions to investigate and hunt something they were acquainted with but the scenes of their childhood were not there.

Furi started in to drive them back to the perch and take them home, but after chasing the ten hens a mile or more apiece he gave up the job and laid down under a tree to rest.

The old fellow he sold the garden truck to said if he would wait until sundown the hens would seek their perch. This they did and so were driven back to the home ranch.

When they awoke the next morning and found their sleeping car had landed in the right place they declared the strike off and began tearing up the young lawn grass with renewed vigor.

Music for the Prisoners.

Yesterday Professors Bestolfi and Montonelli gave an instrumental concert to the inmates of the State Prison. It is needless to say that it was a great treat for the prisoners.

There was music to touch every heart, produced by men whose skill in that direction seems almost limitless. After they had listened to and applauded the weird, melting strains of the greatest composers their programme shifted to the well known national airs. One could tell at a glance the nationality of the listeners. The Scotch got very much excited when "The Campbells are coming" was rendered, and the Irish went wild over their national melodies, but the climax was reached when the plantation melodies of the South was turned loose and the dance music that sets the darkies going through the hoe down steps on the New Orleans docks. The darkies in the audience had to be held down by their fellow prisoners. "Lay down cully, keep yohur hands off dis child till I get on dat floor!" Warden Bell said if another plantation melody was played he feared he would have to put the colored convicts in irons.

There is a huge public disgust at Colorado Springs, because the charges against the macreants who tarred and feathered Gen. Tarsney have been dismissed.

IMPROVEMENT OF ARID LAND.

Mr. Buddington Proposes to address Our Citizens on the Subject.

Virginia City, August 19, 1894.

EDITOR APPEAL:—
I find that Nevada is apparently committed to the consideration of only one issue in the coming election namely the silver question. You know that there is a Congress to be held in Denver on the subject of arid lands, and Nevada is as much interested in that as she is on the silver question if she is to be placed on the road to prosperity. Although a stranger here I have been speaking on this subject in Washington, Oregon and California the past year, and all three of the States are preparing to adopt the measures advocated in the petition as far as they refer to the arid land question. I have hoped that Nevada would fall in line if not lead in a movement to have a practical solution of this question adopted by the general government. I am awaiting the return of Mr. Newlands before I go further here, but hope it will be so that I can personally inform the Irrigation Congress that Nevada has not lost interest in the matter. I thought an address under the auspices of the leading citizens of Carson would be the best way to get an expression of public sentiment. I think that the coinage question will be satisfactorily settled in the next Congress, and that the improvement of the arid and swamp lands will come to front as a national issue, especially in the West and South. I see no better way for the improvement of these lands than is in the principles involved in the petition, and it has the merit of obtaining general approval irrespective of party in all the States. I hope that Carson will not allow herself to ignore it even if it requires a little effort to bring it to the attention of her citizens.

Yours Respectfully.

T. C. BUDDINGTON.

The Second Night.

There was a large house at the second concert of Signors Bestolfi and Montonelli. "Meders State March" was rendered and loudly applauded, Carson has never enjoyed a musical concert more than the two given by these two masters of their art. They are the same gentlemen who were the favorite musicians at the Worlds Fair with Princess Eulalia and the Duke of Veragua, and who appeared so frequently at Mrs. Potter Palmers. Their music has a swing and abandon hard to describe, with a delicacy of shading and finish that is simply ravishing. It is a combination of musical mechanism and genius. Result perfection.
